MEET DAN, A PALEONTOLOGIST IN TRAINING

The continuing adventures of Dino Dan go to the next level with 16 new prehistoric creatures, a new gang of friends and another Henderson brother who can see dinosaurs. That's right – now Dan's younger brother, Trek, can see the dinosaurs too! At eight years old, Trek has become just as fascinated with dinosaurs as his big brother – and with his own funny way of putting dinos into any situation. With Dan away helping their world-famous paleontologist father, Trek has taken up the mantle of 'paleontologist in training' and has started to complete the experiments in Dan's Dino Field Guide. Trek loves dinosaurs for all the reasons that Dan does but he has not turned into a mini-Dan. Where Dan loves research and experiments, Trek is all about thrills and chills. Which means that while Trek will perform the dino experiments left over in Dan's field guide, most of Trek's contact with dinos will be action-filled adventures!
